„Documentary traces of prof. Konstantin Katzarof“

Internationally recognized university professor and a successful attorney. This assessment gives us enough reason to think that the Bulgarian archives have taken action to search for and preserve his documentary heritage. This is their main purpose and they have been fulfilling it diligently for 70 years, thus preserving documentary funds and collections of a number of Bulgarian scientists for future generations. “Foreign spy“ and “defector“ – these are the labels used to refer to Prof. K. Katzarof by the communist authorities after the end of World War II. That is enough explanation for the fact that unlike a number of his colleagues - university professors, Prof. Konstantin Katzarof does not have a preserved documentary fund in the archival system of our country. Two people took on the task of searching for documents from and about Prof. K. Katzarof – a law professor and an archivist at a university archive. This symbiosis gave us the opportunity to combine our knowledge and conduct research in various archives and archival funds, in which documents about Prof. K. Katzarof could possibly be found. Our goal was, after their discovery, to obtain their digital copies, which could be later systematized in the so-called "ideal inventory" for the creation of a virtual digital collection "Documentary traces of Prof. Konstantin Katzarof". The digital collection is stored in the University Archive of Sofia University and is available to researchers and interested parties.

In its entirety, a documentary fund of a university professor gives us an idea of his life and, above all, of his scientific work. The archival funds of university professors also contain a number of letters from their colleagues from the country and abroad, which present to us the scientific network not only of a given individual, but also of the university. Unfortunately, in our research we mostly found documents that are kept in dossiers. Before us, a number of researchers of the life and work of Prof. K. Katzarof have found individual documents with the help of which they reconstructed his biography and his scientific work. Our goal was to search in more detail in archival funds of personal and institutional origin for documents that would complete this image and fully present him as a person, scientist, and citizen.

Pursuing this goal, one of our first tasks was to check whether any documents about him, mutual photos and, above all, letters were stored in the documentary funds of professors and colleagues of Prof. Katzarof from the Faculty of Law of Sofia University. Unfortunately, the tragic fate that befell him in his adult life is reflected here as well. The era in which Prof. Katzarof lived was characterized by communication through letters and greetings on various occasions through postcards. We expected to find such documents in some of the collections of Prof. Stefan Balamezov, Prof. Georgi Genov, Prof. Ivan Altanov, Prof. Lyuben Vassilev, Prof. Nikola Dolapchiev, Prof. Venelin Ganev, Prof. Mihail Genovski, Prof. Georgi Danailov, Prof. Evgeni Kamenov, Prof. Vladimir Kutikov, Prof. Vladimir Mollov, Prof. Ivan Nenov, Prof. Nikola Saranov, Prof. Petko Staynov, Prof. Iliya Yanulov, Prof. Tseko Torbov, etc., as well as reviews written for his works or by him for their scientific works. Our fears that, given the treatment of Prof. K. Katzarof as an "enemy of the people", it is possible that his colleagues, even if they had such documents, destroyed them so as not to get into trouble with the authorities, were confirmed. Only in the collection of Prof. Tseko Torbov we found several postcards and letters, exchanged between the families over nearly three decades, which reveal the collegial and friendly relations between them. In the collection of Prof. Ivan Altanov we found a report written regarding the investigation conducted against Prof. Katzarof. This exhausts the documents indirectly preserved by his colleagues.

We carefully read the minutes of the meetings of the Faculty Council of the Faculty of Law and the minutes of the Primary Party Organization of the faculty, expecting to find some comments or discussions regarding the arrest, conviction and dismissal of Prof. K. Katzarof. In the minutes of the Faculty Council meetings, we found only decisions to extend his sick leave in the period 1947-1953. The object of criticism were his colleagues Prof. Venelin Ganev, Prof. Lyuben Dikov, Prof. Nikola Dolapchiev, Prof. Ivan Apostolov, etc. Perhaps because he was a part-time, not a full-time professor, he was not of interest to the new personnel, which at least spared him the offensive qualifications directed at the others.

Other sources from which we decided to seek information were the university archives in Bern and Geneva, where Prof. K. Katzarof studied and taught. At the University of Bern, we expected to find the main faculty books in which all students are enrolled and their studies are tracked, the exams they have taken and the grades they received. Unfortunately, it turned out that the main books of the Faculty of Law have not been preserved, and for this reason, researchers will not have the opportunity to trace K. Katzarov's education and under which university professors he took exams. This omission is to some extent compensated by the Directory for the governing bodies, lecturers and students of the University of Bern, which lists the courses taught by which lecturers for the relevant academic years. However, we still cannot confirm with certainty which courses K. Katzarof attended as a student. From the Directory, we also obtained information about the roommate with whom K. Katzarof lived in the first year of his studies – the future professor of statistics and his colleague at the Faculty of Law, Slavcho Zagorov. In the Staatsarchiv Bern, we actually found more documents on K. Katzarof's doctoral defence, namely: diaries for registration and control of doctoral exams; a register of doctoral defenses, which contained the autobiography of K. Katzarof and the review of Prof. Dr. Walter Burckhardt, as well as the protocol of K. Katzarof's defense itself. An interesting find in our search was a copy of the doctoral dissertation, which has a dedication from K. Katzarof to his reviewer, Prof. Dr. Walter Burckhardt.

The University Archives of the University of Geneva provided us with digital copies of his teaching file. We have also provided a link to the course programs at the University of Geneva, where you can find what Prof. K. Katzarof taught as an associate professor.

With the help and guidance of our Swiss colleagues, we searched for information about Prof. K. Katzarof in the information systems of some archives and libraries in Switzerland. Thus, several short articles were discovered about the Association of Bulgarian Students in Switzerland and an appeal they made after the end of World War I; correspondence on the activities of the Bulgarian-Swiss Society, etc. We also found several files of Prof. K. Katzarof, kept by the Swiss authorities, and several letters from him to Prof. Edgar Salin. Unfortunately, we were unable to make digital copies of them, but we provide links to them. We hope that in the future we will have the opportunity to fill the digital collection with these documents, which will make it easier for Bulgarian researchers.

A large part of the documents mentioned above are being put into scientific use for the first time. We hope they will shed more light on clarifying the biography of Prof. Katzarof. To these documents, we can also add the main book for the students of the Faculty of Law of Sofia University¹; minutes of meetings of the Academic Council of Sofia University and the Faculty Council of the Faculty of Law, where we can chronologically trace the scientific growth of Prof. Katzarof and, unfortunately, his dismissal.

The remaining documents included in the digital collection are known to researchers. In the process of our research, we discovered that in some of the publications dedicated to the life of Prof. K. Katzarof, there are documents that are cited with incorrect claim data or the archive in which they are stored is wrong. With this "ideal inventory" we aim to correct these gaps, which, although minimal, must be eliminated.

All documents in the inventory are presented with the claim data from the archives in which they are stored. Their digital copies /with minor exceptions/ are located in the University Archive of Sofia University. Some of the documents include links to websites, as they were found through various information systems in libraries and archives, mainly in Switzerland. Detailed inventories of the documents have been attached to the dossiers of Prof. K. Katzarof, kept at Sofia University and by the State Security, in order to make it as easy as possible for researchers in their scientific research. It is worth noting that the serial number under which the documents are described corresponds to the file title of the digital copy, not the page number. This should be kept in mind by researchers when citing the documents. The sheet number, according to the methodological provisions in the Bulgarian archival system, is marked with a pencil in the upper right corner of the document.

For the convenience of researchers, the documents are arranged according to a classification scheme that follows the individual stages of the life of Prof. K. Katzarof.

The inventory does not include the books and articles by Prof. K. Katzarof, and they are not subject to preservation by the archives. A detailed bibliography is presented by Fonds "Konstantin and Zinovia Katzarovi", Geneva together with New Bulgarian University, Sofia in the Digital interactive bibliography of the publications of prof. Konstantin Katzarov.

The inventory also does not include some photographs of Prof. K. Katzarof, which were published in publications dedicated to him, as they are owned by private individuals with whom we were unable to establish contact.

Our idea of making the collection virtual cannot be realized for now, due to the requirements of some of the archives in the country, which have strict regulations for publishing documents in the virtual space. However, we hope that by collecting them in a general inventory and with the possibility of using their digital copies in the University Archive, we will facilitate future researchers. Our deep conviction is that the place for this digital collection is precisely at Sofia University, where K. Katzarof built his scientific career.

The name of the collection "Documentary Traces of Prof. K. Katzarof" was chosen intentionally even before the start of our research. We were aware that the turning point in the life of this scientist would contribute to the scattering of his documentary legacy, accumulated during the years of his active teaching and legal activities, and only fragments would remain of him. Our expectations of finding documents in the personal archives of his colleagues and friends were not met, and in the future, we will not be able to draw a clearer portrait of Prof. K. Katzarof as a person and scientist. We collect information about his life from his books and, unfortunately, from the dossiers of State Security.
